

Christopher Day MA VetMB CertIAVH VetFFHom MRCVS

Christopher Day is a vet of 38 years experience of alternative and complementary medicines (acupuncture, herbs, homeopathy, chiropractic etc.), using them almost exclusively in practice. He has conducted clinical research, taught widely throughout the world and has written or contributed to about 30 books on the subject.

He is Veterinary Dean of the Faculty of Homeopathy, having responsibility for courses, curricula, standards and examinations. He has served as External Assessor to IVAS/ABVA/Exeter University Veterinary Acupuncture courses and External Examiner for the McTimoney Chiropractic Association.

He runs the Alternative Veterinary Medicine Centre referral service in Oxfordshire.