

Holly Mash BVSc VetMfHom CertIVAS MRCVS

Holly is a veterinary surgeon practicing complementary medicine - homeopathy and acupuncture. Holly qualified from Bristol University in 2001. She then worked in mixed practice for a year before concentrating on companion animal practice. In 2003 Holly worked in a holistic veterinary surgery in Sydney and studied Traditional Chinese Medicine gaining her IVAS acupuncture certification.

Holly has a referral clinic in Bristol, and also runs a regular holistic clinic at a veterinary surgery in South West London. She is also an advisor to Your Dog and Your Cat magazines, and runs CPD courses through Improve and independently. Holly is writing a book on holistic dog care, due for publication next year.

In her spare time Holly enjoys walking her cocker spaniel Penny.