

Lucy Goddard DipAVN(Surgical) DipAVN(Medical) RVN MBVNA

Lucy qualified as a veterinary nurse in 1994, and continued to work for some years within mixed and small animal practice including locum work in both the UK and Australia. She has been working within a multi-disciplined referral practice for the last nine years and within that time gained advanced nursing diplomas in both surgical and medical nursing, and worked as an anaesthesia nurse for three years. After a short period spent teaching student nurses in further education she returned to clinical work and now divides her time between nursing and training of nurses within the practice. Lucy is a contributing author to veterinary publications and has lectured at BSAVA congress and continuing education seminars.
